About This Webinar

Supply Chain

The cannabis and hemp supply chain presents intricate legal and regulatory challenges, making it essential for lawyers to develop a strong understanding of the industry's legal framework. This webinar equips legal professionals with the knowledge needed to advise clients on key issues such as cultivation regulations, interstate transportation restrictions, and compliance with federal and state laws. By attending, lawyers will gain practical insights into mitigating legal risks, ensuring regulatory compliance, and strategically positioning their clients for success in this evolving market.

Learning objectives include:

- The legal implications of indoor vs. outdoor cultivation operations.
- Interstate transport challenges and federal restrictions.
- The availability and limitations of crop insurance for cannabis businesses.
- Legal considerations when competing with imported cannabis and hemp materials.

Our panel of experts will provide insights into how leading industry stakeholders manage these challenges while ensuring compliance and mitigating legal risks.

This session is a must-attend for legal professionals advising cannabis businesses on supply chain operations and regulatory compliance.

About This Series

CANNABIS LAW

The U.S. cannabis industry has exploded over the past decade. With every emerging industry comes legislation, rules, investors, and questions. The legalized cannabis industry is no different. As more states in the U.S. adopt adult use and medical cannabis laws and regulations, it is incumbent on businesspeople and professionals to educate themselves about the challenges and opportunities facing the industry, as well as how to navigate the legal landscape governing cannabis businesses, whether those businesses “touch the plant,” or not. Thankfully, we’re here to help.

In this series, we provide an essential foundation for any businessperson or professional looking to get smart about the cannabis industry. In our first episode, we present an overview of the cannabis industry and the competing legal frameworks at the state and federal levels. In our second episode, we will discuss investment strategies for getting involved in the cannabis industry. Our third episode will discuss specific legal issues surrounding intellectual property rights in the cannabis space. And we’ll conclude with our fourth episode, focused on legal and business issues for employers and employees in states where cannabis has been legalized for both medical and adult use.

Jason Tarasek – j.tarasek@vicentellp.com

Jason Tarasek is a partner at Vicente LLP and manages the firm's Minnesota office. He assists clients throughout the Upper Midwest. With more than 20 years of legal experience as a transactional attorney and litigator, he has handled hundreds of civil litigation matters and first-chaired several trials in state and federal courts. Recently, Jason recovered nearly $2 million for cannabis entrepreneurs who had been defrauded by potential investors.

As a cannabis policy advocate, Jason has spent many hours at the Minnesota State Capitol. In 2022, Jason successfully lobbied in favor of Minnesota's "edible cannabinoid product" law, which sparked an explosion in the popularity of hemp-derived THC beverages throughout Minnesota and the United States. In 2023, he advocated for Minnesota's passage of an adult-use cannabis bill. Today, Jason continues to strive for sensible policy as Minnesota implements its adult-use cannabis program while expanding its trailblazing hemp-derived THC beverage industry.

Previously, Jason served as Minnesota Political Director for the Marijuana Policy Project, where he helped orchestrate the state's first-ever legislative hearing on a cannabis legalization bill in 2019. Read more.
